II International conference

It was natural that the Maison des Sciences de l'Homme (MSH) in Dijon, co-founding institution of the International Association Strikes and Social Conflicts, supports the organization of the second conference of this Association. The global, comparative and cross-national approaches of social movements in a long term perspective until present corresponds to the scientific concerns of the MSH of Dijon, which combines in its areas of interdisciplinary research several laboratories and teams with different specializations, in particular in history, sociology, political science. With its digital platform, the MSH of Dijon also develops an electronic filing system of research data and documentation associated corpus. The MSH hopes that the conference - in which the Scientific Committee researchers in Social Sciences and Humanities from the University of Burgundy are heavily invested- helps to strengthen the research efforts on the global history of strikes as a necessary element of the contemporary Social History.

Serge WOLIKOW

Maison des Sciences de l'Homme de Dijon.

The International Association Strikes and Social Conflicts, an association of institutional and individual members, aims to promote and disseminates studies on labour and social conflicts in an interdisciplinary, global, long term historical and non Eurocentric perspective. The International Association Strikes and Social Conflicts organize conferences every two years at different locations in the North or the South; keep up a website that serves for the studies in this area; issue Workers of the World. International Journal on Strikes and Social Conflicts, a peer-reviewed academic journal in the English language, for which manuscripts can be submitted in Spanish, French, English, Italian and Portuguese.

Raquel VARELA

President of the Association Strikes and Social Conflicts .

«Workers of the World». International Journal on Strikes and Social Conflict aims to be innovative. This journal aims to stimulate global studies on labour and social conflicts in an interdisciplinary, global, long term historical and non Eurocentric perspective. It intends to move away from traditional forms of methodological nationalism and conjectural studies, adopting an explicitly critical and interdisciplinary perspective. Therefore, it will publish empirical research and theoretical discussions that address strikes and social conflicts in an innovative and rigorous manner. It will also promote dialogue between scholars from different fields and different countries and disseminate analyzes on different socio-cultural realities, to give visibility and centrality to this theme.

Conference in memory of :

Eric Hobsbawm (1917-2012) was a British Marxist historian. His best-known works include his trilogy about the long 19th century. In 2003 he was the recipient of the Balzan Prize for European History since 1900, "for his brilliant analysis of the troubled history of twentieth-century Europe and for his ability to combine in-depth historical research with great literary talent." Hobsbawm was President of Birkbeck, University of London, for ten years until his death.

Carlos Nelson Coutinho (1943-2012) was one of the most important Brazilian intellectuals of his time. He produced some of the most provocative and polemical writings of political intervention in Brazil in the last decades of the twentieth century. His contribution to the debate on Gramsci's work was internationally recognized, and he was one of the coordinators of the International Gramsci Society. He died months after being awarded the title of Emeritus Professor at the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro.
